

PACHO AT THE AIRPORT

Pacho hustled through the bustling airport, his fluorescent vest marking him as ground crew. Amidst luggage carts and roaring engines, he guided planes safely to their gates. Suddenly, a frantic passenger waved him down, claiming they lost a bag. Pacho's heart sank, but he remained composed, radioing colleagues for help. After a frantic search, the bag was found. Grateful, the passenger thanked Pacho profusely. Exhausted but satisfied, Pacho reflected on the day's events. Working at the airport was demanding, but moments like these made it worthwhile.
